I built it.
Outta parts.

"YOU MADE this?"

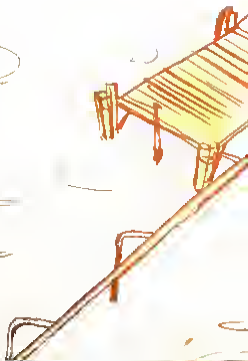
Dino swallowed hard.

"Like... pieced it together?"

by
Jason Brubaker

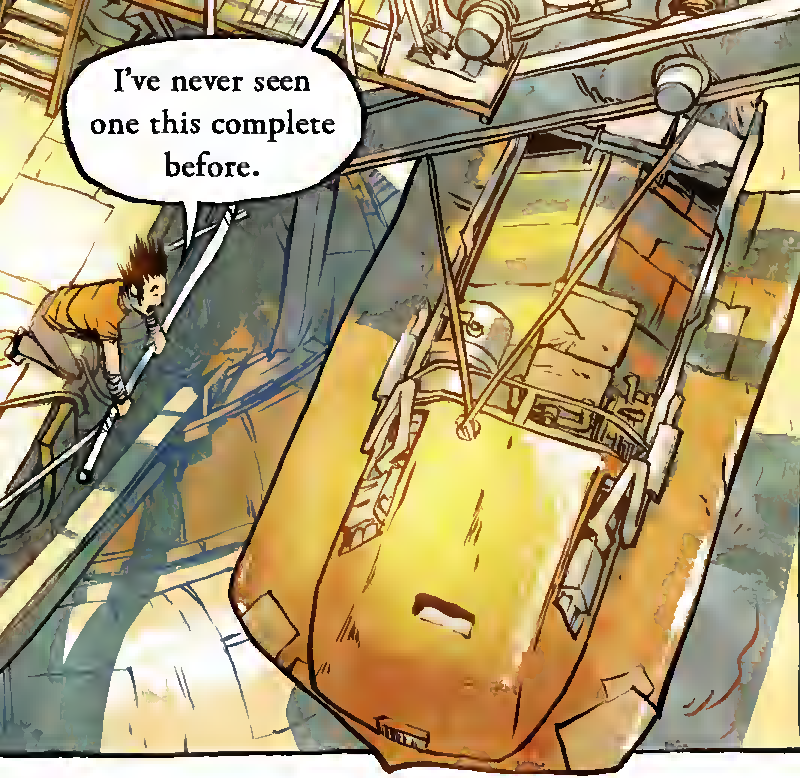
"Is it really safe to take out onto the sands, then?"

"Haven't been stranded once." Henry grinned under the shadow of his hat. "Of course, there's always a first time for everything."

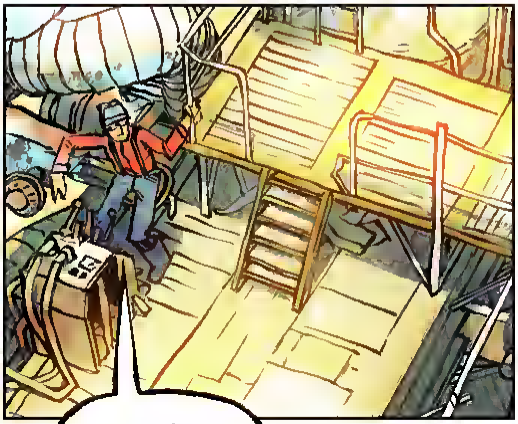


That's not EVEN funny.

"Relax, kid. Anything goes wrong, we jump on that SandSki back there."



I've never seen one this complete before.



Wasn't an easy find.

Oh, and watch yourself on that rail.

Eep!

SNAP

Listen, I'm just gonna... I'll just hang back here if that's okay.

Just don't burn yourself on those pipes behind ya.

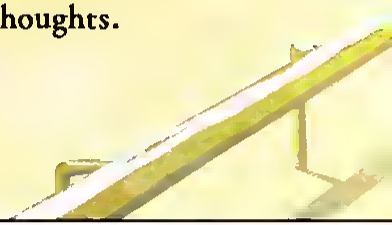
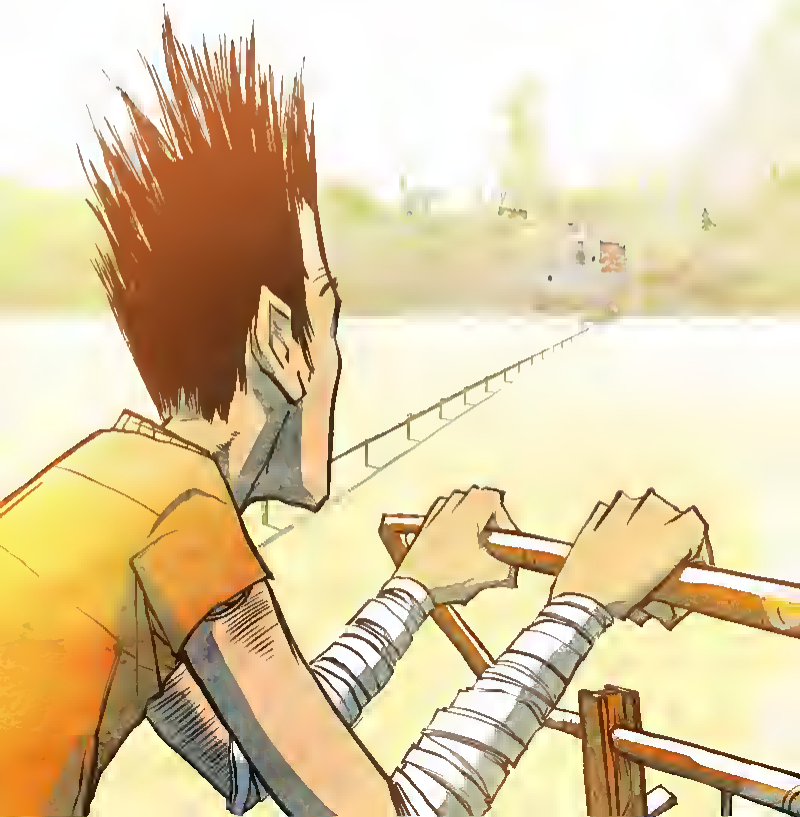
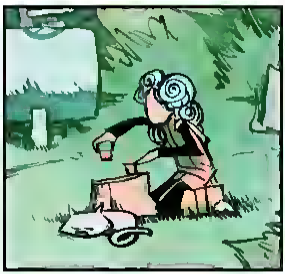
As the machine rumbled along the rail, well past the point of being able to make it back to the homestead safely on foot, Dino had second thoughts.



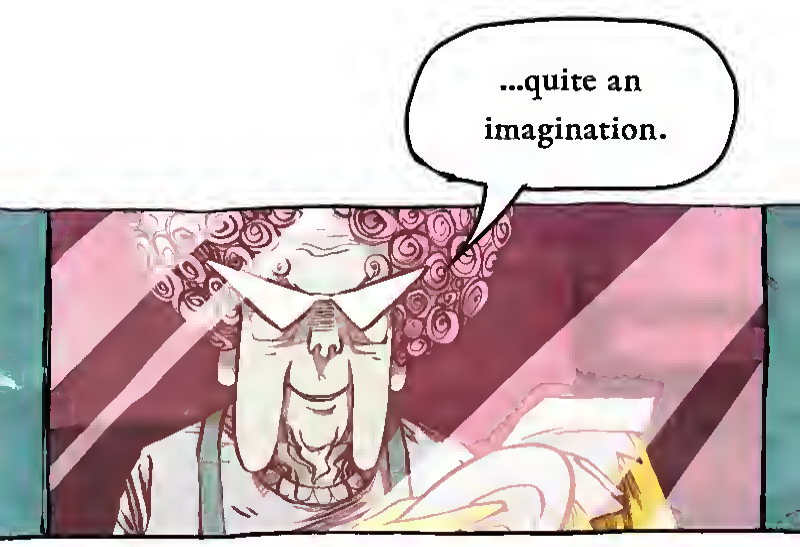
Not for the danger to himself -- though that certainly was a big part of it -- but he didn't know when they'd be returning and he wondered...



...should he have left Vonna alone back there?



That girl...



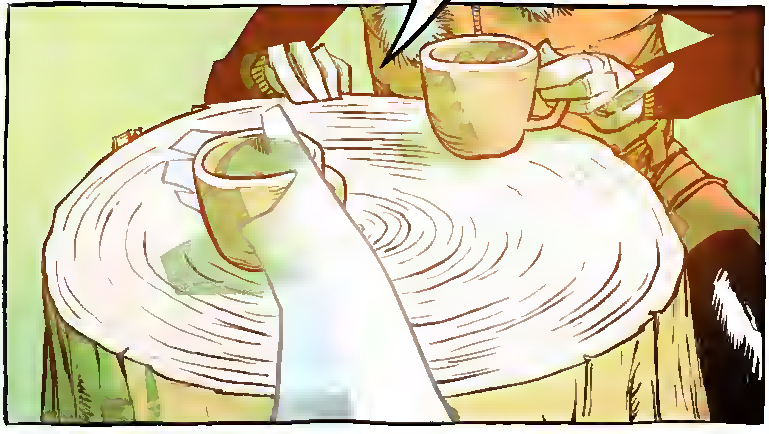
...quite an imagination.

What do I do with this?
You drink it, silly.

You do drink, don't you?

Well, not really.

I don't know that I could if I wanted to.



So you never get hungry? Ever?
Nope.

Well, that's good -- 'cause we're just pretending anyway!
slurp

SLurp

That's good!
Don't forget to stick out your little finger.
It shows everyone that you're proper.

slurp slurp

CoffeeTableComics.com

@Jason_Brubaker

Follow Sithrah

By subscribing

See behind the scenes:

Youtube.com - @JasonBrubaker

FANART - SITHRAH

Breakdown drawings for the fan art.

Thanks for the amazing fan art, Pipo!

See you all next Monday!

-Jason